Saturday August 11th, 2012 06:18

ED2012 Physical Review: Mother Africa

After a slight technical hitch and an intro from an MC who preaches about what makes a good live audience, Mother Africa, a circus spectacular who have been touring the world since 2006, take over the Assembly Hall. This all singing, all dancing (tap, gumboot with a spot of juggling and acrobatics thrown in) troupe set the room ablaze with their tremendous strength, stamina and showmanship. The live band are a constant driving force that hold the stand-alone acts together and make for a slick, robust performance. From pulsating rhythms and vibrant energy to more mellow numbers with some gorgeous harmony arrangements, this show has something for everyone, all members of the family indeed.

Assembly Hall, 2-27 Aug (not 13, 20), 2.20pm.
tw rating 3/5 | [Lucinda Al-Zoghbi]

Sections: by Lucinda Al-Zoghbi - ED2012 Physical Reviews - tw rating 3/5 | Tags: Assembly, Mother Africa

UPDATES REVIEWS JUSTFAB ab 39.95 JETZT SHOPPEN JustFab.de © 2012 Just Fabulous

0 comments

0 Stars

Leave a message...

Discussion Community

ALSO FROM THREEWEEKS...

ED2012 Musicals Review: Once On This Island (Forth Children's Theatre)
Once on this Island is set in the French Antilles in the Caribbean sea and tells the story of Ti-Moune, a peasant girl, who falls in love with a son...

ED2011 Physical Review: Swimming With My Mother (CoisCéim Dance Theatre)
With a tenderness that is only found in the relationship between mother and child, David and Madge Bolger produce a fusion of dance and physical theatre which explores familial relationships...

ED2011 Physical Review: Africa, Heart And Soul (Grassroots Theatre Company, Zimbabwe)
This jubilant performance presents a simple tale of courtship which unfolds through music, dance and story-telling, guided by a sage old narrator and sprinkled with unexpected humour. From the first...

SEARCH 3WKS

EDITORS' PICKS: RECOMMENDED ARTICLES

He should definitely be here: Rhys Darby
Small stuff at the Fringe
The Fringe's "big African party": You're all invited
Roll up, roll up, let's save the planet – Marek Larwood
Pajamas on for imaginary radio chat – The Pajama Men chat to Drennon Davis
Sarah Kendall stands up
Fleming's Fringe: Is Auntie stealing your bums on seat?
A Fringe love affair: Carol Tambor tells all
High hats and harmoniums: It's Jane Bom-Bane
Get cast away with The Ruby Dolls

CLICK HERE TO BROWSE THE SITE BY FRINGE VENUE

member of fmn festivalmedianetwork

CMU Advertising
CMU Twitter
CMU Facebook
Music Industry Jobs
CMU Share My Playlist
CMU SoundCloud
ThreeWeeks Advertising
ThreeWeeks Twitter
ThreeWeeks Facebook
PR Training Courses
Social Media Training
Media Landscape Training
Play For Life
Unlimited Media News
Unlimited Media Contacts

CMU TRAINING
Music Business Training
Music Business Tips
Music Rights Training
Music PR Training
Music Business Models Training
Music & Social Media Training

ThisWeekLondon
London Culture News
London Culture Recommendations
London Culture Recommended Links
ThisWeek Twitter

© UnLimited Publishing 2012
A division of UnLimited Media

UnLimited Media, Unicorn House
221 Shoreditch High St, London, E1 6PJ
[t] 020 7099 9050

We use cookies to ensure you get the best experience on our website - change your settings
Close